A legal high: Interviews in law

Introducing Seldon Rosser's new podcast, in which leading figures in law discuss their views on the legal market.

Totum's international alliance partner, Australian recruitment firm Seldon Rosser, has published the first of a series of podcasts called 'A legal high'. Headed up by Director Graham Seldon, the series interviews senior business leaders in law on their view of today's legal market.

In this first episode, he interviews Michael Chambers who spent many years as a client relationship manager (including promotion to a senior manager role) at King & Wood Mallesons. Chambers is now Executive Manager, Commercial Services, at National Australia Bank.

Episode one: Client relationships
